Monroeville Technology Firm Sponsor of Pittsburgh Technology Council's CEO Network

Monroeville, PA – SDLC Partners, a technology consulting firm in Monroeville, has joined with Pittsburgh Technology Council to support the Council's CEO Peer Network – a group comprised of leaders from a cross-section of southwestern Pennsylvania's technology-related organizations, including life sciences firms, IT-based organizations, advanced manufacturing companies, groups and a variety of support member organizations.

As part of this commitment, SDLC sponsored a recent CEO retreat at Nemaocolin Woodlands Resort which included approximately 40 CEOs of companies focused on technology or the advancement of technology in the Pittsburgh region.

"We felt that sponsoring the CEO Peer Network was an excellent way to learn from successful leaders and work with them to contribute to the growth of our respective companies and the business community in our region," said Scott Barnyak, one of the principal partners and founders of SDLC.

SDLC's services are focused on process, information management, and management services including business process management, process optimization, business intelligence and web based reporting, PMO strategy, project management, tools mentoring, full life cycle development, and managed maintenance outsourcing.
